

Like to sew?

Join our flock!

Whether you're a stitching superstar or threading your first needle, we need YOU for a bird conservation art project!

Bird Collisions in the Anthropocene is a national arts education project raising awareness about bird building collisions, the leading cause of human-related bird deaths in the United States. We're crowdsourcing the crafting of 10,863 life-sized fabric birds for a HUGE art exhibit that will travel the country to promote bird conservation. We need your help!

Our team of HERO SEWISTS make simple 4- to 5-inch bird bases with recycled fabric that become canvases for bird conservation artworks handcrafted by people across the country.

ALL SEWING SKILLS ARE WELCOME! Yes, even if your stitches are a little wobbly! Your bird bases will be decorated with colorful fabrics, ribbons, buttons, shells, sequins, & more. So perfection isn't the goal, conservation is!

Why should I get involved?

- Help save birds
- Be part of a national art project
- Show off your sewing skills
- Practice sustainable artmaking

EASY-TO-MAKE BIRD BASES!

Make 10 or make 200! Fly solo or gather your flock! Every bird base you sew helps our project reach our goal and SAVE BIRDS!

Ready to get started?

Visit www.hollygreenberg.com/bulk-birdmaking or e-mail Holly at birdcollisionsproject@gmail.com

 @birdcollisionsproject

